About the Presenter

Valley Health's CCRN™ and PCCN Review Course is for nurses who provide direct bedside care to acutely and/or critically ill adult patients in areas such as ICU, CCU, trauma units, interventional radiology/cardiology, or critical care transport/flight.

This is a review course for the CCRN™ and PCCN exam. Candidates must register separately for the examinations and meet one of the following clinical practice requirement options:

Option 1: Practice as an RN or APRN for 1,750 hours in direct bedside care of acutely ill adult patients during the previous two years, with 875 of those hours accrued in the most recent year preceding application.

Option 2: Practice as an RN or APRN for at least five years with minimum of 2,000 hours in direct bedside care of acutely ill adult patients, with 144 of those hours accrued in the most recent year preceding application.

Dana Morrison is one of our speakers for the Valley Health Professional Development Series. She has over 30 years of rich ICU experience. Prior positions in the ICU include Staff nurse, Charge nurse, Critical Care Coordinator, and Educator. As Educator, she successfully designed and developed a Critical Care Internship for new graduate nurses hired into the ICU. She believes in “growing nurses” by being a facilitator and speaker and proudly serves as Clinical Adjunct Nursing Faculty for Shenandoah University. Dana's areas of expertise include 12 & 18 Lead EKG Interpretation, Shock, Trauma, Cardiac Pathophysiology, and Cellular Level Anatomy & Pathophysiology. According to her peers, her greatest professional attribute is the ability to simplify complex topics.

Ms. Morrison is active in various professional and community-based operations. She has lectured nationally for more than 20 years on a variety of Critical Care topics. She has presented at NTI, ENA Conferences, AACN Conferences, EMS Conferences, and her own all-day conferences. Dana's annual CCRN, PCCN, and Med/Surg Certification Review Courses have been very popular and successful.
